BB Season Bounces Through March

Basketball is always a popular sport for Special Olympics. This year, St. Mary's County is training five full-court teams, six half-court teams, and over 30 skills athletes. We also have a unified team this year. We appreciate the support and practice times from our partners to make this team successful. Qualifiers were held at Huntington High School in Huntington. The St. Mary's local tournament was held on March 2 with teams from Charles, Calvert, and Prince George's Counties. The teams had a great time and the competition was excellent. Our teams are preparing for the State Competition on March 15. With the support of excellent coaches, volunteers, and families, this season proves to be successful and enjoyable for our athletes.

GOOD LUCK TO ALL ATHLETES AT THE STATE COMPETITION!

Bill Ford competed in the Skills Competition. He was in the spot shot, dribble, and wall toss events to win a silver medal.

Winter Games Features Alpine and Snowshoeing

The Wisp Ski Resort in Western Maryland was the site for this year's Special Olympics Maryland winter games competition. On February 26-28, a contingent of athletes, partners, coaches, and volunteers from St. Mary's County attended the annual event and enjoyed days of snow, sun, cool temperatures, rain, and wind.

St. Mary's County took 25 athletes and 12 unified partners to the Maryland competition this year. Nine athletes competed in snowshoeing. The alpine events consisted of three in novice slalom, eight in intermediate slalom, giant slalom, and downhill, and five in advanced slalom, giant slalom, and downhill. County Director Mary Lu Bucci was pleased with their effort and commented, "Once again our athletes rose to the challenge and were very competitive. The weather is always a factor, and this year was no different. I am proud of the achievements of our local athletes."

Snowshoeing was an exciting competition this year. This year over 70 athletes competed in 25, 50, 100, 200, 400, and 800 meter races and the 4x100 meter relay. Our athletes, who practiced on flat ground, met the challenge of an uphill slope for the actual competition. This year's snowshoers are Tom Bayne, Angela Buckler, Russell Bucci, Austin DeBeltz, Laura Marini, Stephen Maras, Andy Thompson, and Jason Wright. Supporting this year's snowshoers were volunteers Kathie and Rob Wright, Connie and Gene Thompson, and Shelly DeBeltz. Coach Gwen Guy worked with the athletes during the training season.

The novice alpine skiers competed using gates and turns to measure their accuracy and speed on the snow. Athletes Justin Thompson, Chris Reed, Beth Goddard, Wayne Carter achieved two gold medals for his performance. Athlete Kayla Woolridge competed using a bi-ski, tethered to her coach and dad, Randy Woolridge. The intermediate level skiers made improvements in their skiing abilities this year as well. Intermediate skiers were Wayne Carter, Rebecca Chapman, Anna Hammett, Terrel Nowlin, Thomas Smith, and Amy Trowbridge. The competition offered a challenging event for the intermediate skiers – the chance to compete in a unified event. Partners and athletes, in teams, each took a run on the course. Their times were combined and awards were presented. The intermediate teams were Terrel Nowlin and Courtney Bucci, Thomas Smith and Meghan Herring, Wayne Carter and Michael Bucci, Anna Hammett and Bill Morlong. The teams had a great time.

The advanced St. Mary's skiers showed their skills on the slalom, giant slalom, or downhill courses. These skiers also participated in a unified slalom event. The advanced skiers were Annie Bassford, Jayme Lorraine, Larry Mills, Samantha Oliver, Joey Owens, Jimmy Hawkins, and Sam Huffman. Their partners were Lucas Garner, Tom Emery, Tyler Morlong, Bret Bucci, Ray Bucci, and Marc Rinaldo.

Supporting this year's ski team were coaches Steve Rinaldo and Brian Tierney. The delegation also included volunteers and parents who are the backbone of support to the athletes.

This year's events and practices were possible with the support of St. Mary's County Department of Recreation and Parks and transportation by Coombs Bus and Truck Service.

Angela Buckler and Jason Wright competed in the 400 meter race in snowshoeing.
